CybageKhushboo helps students envision a bright career path

CybageKhushboo organized a career guidance session by Mr. Vivek Velankar at the Gram Panchayat Hall, Kondhur, on Saturday, February 13, 2016. Students of class ten from three schools attended the session and were influenced for shaping their future in the right direction.

Since past five years, CybageKhushboo has been supporting Amruteshwar Madhyamik Vidyalay for their teachers' salaries and other necessities. This time in the yearly evaluation, it was found that the students are directionless in their career planning. To address this issue, CybageKhushboo planned a career guidance session to help the students evaluate future opportunities.

During the session, Mr. Velankar gave information about the lesser known technical courses other than degree and diploma that are in demand. He explained the growing scope of nursing courses across the world. He also informed the students about the government sponsored residential courses and their scope.

As per Mr. Velankar, before choosing a career option, a self-analysis is required from every student for finding their areas of interest. He laid special emphasis on developing a reading habit and gave several tips for improving the English language. Students, particularly girls, asked several questions regarding competitive exams and career opportunities in their areas of interest. Towards the end of the session, the students were given CybageKhushboo sponsored Marathi books of Mr. Vivek Velankar, which will help them choose the career option most suitable.

The session received an overwhelming response both from the students and the village people. Students were seen excited about the open avenues for a bright future.
